Gillian Peebles, formerly 'Aitken', has been associated with Atwell Gallery since it's very beginning. Back in the 1970's, along with the original group, she washed walls, carted away rotting bales of hay and helped turn the original derelict house into a working arts facility. She is proud of Atwell's contribution to Melville, and the State's artistic communities. In sponsoring the 'GILLIAN K PEEBLES PERPETUAL TROPHY YOUTH AWARD of EXCELLENCE', Gillian encourages young artists to pursue their dreams and love of art.

She speaks from experience and passion when she says, "The fact that I, a kid from a little town in Western Australia can end up the guest of the Royal Academy of Arts in London, is quite amazing". Consider, Gillian taught herself to reach a high level of excellence, sufficient to be the recipient of a world acknowledged qualification from one of the oldest and most highly respected art institutions in the world. She went on to do much with her life, including that 'Silver' medal in Italy. Her quotation, a nucleus in the 'follow your dream' in Atwell's Youth Awards, inspires all young artists to follow her example. Her message to the youth of Australia "If I can do it, so can you".
